

A HUNDRED POSTERS

#21 Sept. 1977

copyright 1977 Alan Davies / individual works copyright 1977 the authors
editor / Alan Davies, Box 415, Kenmore Station, Boston, Mass. 02215

Larry Fagin

*

STABS

Snowflake arrives with the highballs.

objectification of torn-up feelings

wrap-around shadows

You is one.

Brussels sprouts cure paranoia.

Science, itself, authorizes blue.

a dim lamp in the far funk

The projector's reels are the mouse's ears.

civilization and its discotheques

I'm sick of living unpretentiously.

"Irony is just an apology for not being able to lay it out there."

"You're certainly making me very glad that I work nights."

1-min. harmonica (gorilla workshop)

Olson & Johnson on Pluto

black hand shadow over white fish shadow

The echoes of a million slinkies

I saw Pine Top spit blood all reet!

"Being at ease is not love."

It's always calmest before dirt gets thrown in your face.

I screw Big Bird's head onto G.I. Joe's body.

Excuse me while I kiss this guy (the sky).

"The mask is you."

open heart surgery on Halloween

walking swedish pancake

Pride Gas

Sound is a kind of pain to which all pain replies.

The sun rises in the sky like a tiny sun magnified a billion times.

The bridge lights up in the mirror.

Ladders hook together.

Take the microphone out of your hair.

Roll up your toothbrush & razor inside your pajamas.

Get your grandma goblin shot.

Stop the Mayflower!

scapegoat on a skateboard

I was born, but...

The bird is the word.

"The barman is in the pocket of the pencil's jacket."

Coffee is drunk by a green hand.

upsidedown & backwards cows

fire engines with venetian blinds

plastic pocketbooks in Spuyten Duyvil

Let's get down to brass band!

beer bottles in branches

"Well then there now"

The moon isn't to put out in your eye.

spots, ink

inertia nutcracker

portrait in colored wax on wood

"debourgeoisification"

leaf like a hyphen in the sky

transcendental ventriloquy

a freshman in the jungle

Sleepy Lagoon is a Frenchman.

"The wire in the rose is beautiful."

springy leaves, bouncy branches

Pillow of Fire, Jr.

a love attack

King me.

Norm & Form

tuxedo of bones

We decorate poems.

burrowing nematode = spreading decline

post-image burns